Chicken-Chase Night 2015-07-28 Casper Quinn has a secret. Brant Mitchell has two. Hickory Ditch, Arkansas - July 2012 Popular fried chicken chain Wings of Glory is under attack from homosexual activists, and Harvest Mission Pentecostal Church is ready to fight back. Caught in the crossfire of a culture war in which they never enlisted, Casper and Brant will each have to find his own answer to the age-old question: Am I really what I eat? Because if they could find the courage to tell each other their truths, they might discover there really is life after the Ditch. CHICKEN is a Southern Gothic YA novel with an infusion of magical realism. It's a raw, honest, sometimes funny, sometimes poignant look at falling in love in a place where angels and demons are believed in without question, but the human heart is always subject to suspicion.

Fried Chicken and Burritos-Jeremy Shank 2014-04-05 Do you like to be comforted? Jeremy Shank found himself in a place where he either needed to be more comforting behind the pulpit or go on being the "prophet of doom". Finding new inspiration in the things he loves - FOOD, Jeremy began a blog page chronicling his sermon work. "Fried Chicken & Burritos" was born. www.friedchickenandburritos.blogspot.comJeremy uses the things that speak out from the scripture, even the hard stuff, as a way to bring people closer to God. Not all scripture is easy to read. God wants to comfort our souls. "Come to me, all you who are weary and heavy burdened, and I will give you rest." Get your belly full, today! "In this volume of creative sermons Pastor Shank has made the gospel accessible in a challenging context. In so doing he is changed, his preaching transformed and the people of God refreshed and renewed in the power of the word. Thanks be to God." Chickens-John Freeman 2016-06-27 Provide Food For Your Family, Make Extra Money, And Have Fun - Learn to Raise Your Own Chickens! Are you interested in raising chickens? Would you like to eat eggs from your very own hens? Do you want to have chickens scratching in your yard, just like your grandparents did? Raising Chickens for Food, Fun and Profit will teach you the basics of feeding and caring for your chickens. You'll learn where to buy your chickens and what kind of birds to buy. You'll also learn where to keep your chickens - and how to hatch your own biddies! Would you like to know: What kind of chicken enclosures are best, and how to build them? How to protect your birds from predators? Which coops are appropriate for show birds? How to install roosting poles? The various ways you can buy and sell chickens? How often you can expect your birds to lay eggs? Raising Chickens for Food, Fun and Profit answers these questions and many more. You'll learn everything you need to know to get started with this fun and rewarding hobby. You'll even discover how to expand your operation to start making money from your chickens! Here's a preview of what you can learn from this engrossing book: "Some people choose their chickens because they like the look of the breed. Dominiques and Lace Wyandotte's are black, or dark grey, with speckles of white. They make nice fat birds, and Rhode Island Reds and Production Reds remind you of the big fat hens on the Disney version of Robin Hood. Bantam breeds are miniature versions of the original sized breeds so people who want smaller birds often choose the "banties." Some people choose their birds because they are exotic looking. Silkies have a puff of feathers on top of their heads that make them appear like they are wearing a hat, and some birds have feathers on their legs, or feathers on their feet." Don't Wait - Download Raising Chickens for Food, Fun and Profit TODAY and start the exciting hobby of keeping your own chickens! You'll be so glad you did!

Faith. Love. Struggle-Nate (Prahgress) 2011-04-20 This book is a testament to the fact that dreams do come true and that anything is possible when our faith is in God. We must always have the ability to see the light at the end of the tunnel. In my eyes, that light represents perfect faith. Although we may never be perfectly faithful, I feel the different moments of love and struggle in our lives bring us closer to that faith. "Faith.Love.Struggle." is comprised of poems dating back to 2002 up until the present. Each poem gives insight into my life and shows how times of love and struggle have made me more faithful while molding me into the man I am today.

The Recess Queen-Alexis O'neill 2016-06-28 A fresh & original twist on the common issue of bullying. Kids will relate, & parents & teachers will appreciate the story's deft handling of conflict resolution (which happens w/o adult intervention) Mean Jean was Recess Queen and nobody said any different. Nobody swung until Mean Jean swung. Nobody kicked until Mean Jean kicked. Nobody bounced until Mean Jean bounced. If kids ever crossed her, she'd push 'em and smoosh 'em lollapaloosh 'em, hammer 'em, slammer 'em kitz and kajammer 'em. Until a new kid came to school! With her irrepressible spirit, the new girl dethrones the reigning recess bully by becoming her friend in this infectious playground romp.

The World Clicks-K. M. Breakey 2010-07-05 A powerful idea has descended on 30-year old Lane Craig, a corporate gunslinger who dreams of greatness. Simple beyond belief, powerful beyond measure, the idea won't go away. Lane knows that if managed properly, a new electronic organism will emerge and transform the Internet and his life forever. He also knows he can't do it alone. Fortunately, suitable partners are nearby. Best pal Johnny is a glib slacker coasting in life's fast lane. Thomas is freakishly brilliant but has grown surly and awkward. What's he hiding? It's only the addition of hard-charging newcomer Gino that galvanizes momentum. Will the idea triumph? Will it derail in a tumult of testosterone and alcohol? A brave face cannot mask Lane's self-doubt and paranoia. Nor can new love interest, Cat. But as the saying goes, even paranoid people have enemies. Especially when it comes to Internet riches. Learn more at www.theworldclicks.com.

Jennifer L. Lane's Faith Adventures shows us in her vulnerability before both God and her readers that: 'Our God isn't shallow. Our God doesn't call us shallow, and He knows that sometimes with a phone call, a run stoplight, a routine blood test, or a sonogram, we can be thrown into the deep end.' Through both her experiences and Scriptures, Jennifer reassures us that: 'He is there in the deep end with us.' She shows us that it is precisely in the moments we choose to face our humanity - our anxiety, hurt and fear - leaning into the arms of our mighty God to hold, soothe and protect us, that our greatest faith adventures are birthed. Let Jennifer inspire, challenge and encourage you to step into the exciting Faith Adventures awaiting you. Pick up a copy of her book or gift it to someone you would love to bless this Christmas. You won't be disappointed." - Anna Smit, Christian blogger

Reading With Giggles & Games-Patty Tew 2017-06-27 The Reading With Giggles & Games Learn-To-Read System works in a dramatically effective way because it uses several proprietary learning strategies, in combination, that create an ideal learning state in the mind and body of the student. No other system combines these learning strategies in the same way and no other system has been able to demonstrate more effective learning results. The children are happier, they learn faster and their teachers and parents are amazed at how much more quickly these students learn to read than other students who are taught with other outmoded, traditional teaching methods. When you child starts to recognize letters, numbers and their associated sounds they are ready for the Reading With Giggles and Games program. This wonderful system can help you, as a parent, be much more effective in your mission to help your child to learn to read without the hassle and frustration that often accompanies the process with other traditional learn to read methods.

S.P.E.R.M.-Fander Banana 2018-02-04 Just one mistake in the bedroom can leave you paying the price for the rest of your life. That's the warning of author Fander Banana in his self-help relationship guide S.P.E.R.M. S.P.E.R.M. stands for Successful Pullout Equals Rich Men. Banana advises men to do what they can to avoid "sperm scheming women" and focus instead on finding exceptional women. It's a reminder to think before you make that one careless decision that can bankrupt you financially, mentally, and emotionally. There are women out there hoping to turn a baby into a financial payday. You think you are hitting a home run until you have unexpected children calling you Daddy and a certain sum withdrawn from your paycheck every month. Having a game plan is crucial in a world populated with women with ulterior motives and deceptive qualities. Banana cautions men that many courts side with the women and suggests getting women to sign a prenuptial agreement before marriage. He also gives advice on how to use a condom and how to make sure you take your common sense with you to bed.

The Academic Entrepreneur-John Paul Tabakian 2013-04-17 Public funding for community colleges has been steadily declining since the peak of funding in the 1970s. Surviving the constant threats of budgetary cuts has been a key motivating factor for community colleges to embrace academic entrepreneurialism. I examined the academic entrepreneurial pursuits of one California Community College (CCC) to understand those factors that encourage community college faculty to pursue academic entrepreneurial solutions. The purpose of this qualitative study is to examine factors that encourage academic entrepreneurialism among community college faculty. Specifically, I investigated three categories of factors that influence academic entrepreneurialism: individual, institutional, and environmental. Individual factors include demographic and background characteristics, including age, race, gender, academic training, and previous professional careers. Institutional factors include program offerings available for students, institutional reputation and history, institutional policies and practices, and academic and administrative leadership. Environmental factors relate to the peer influences of a campus that encourages academic entrepreneurial behavior of faculty. The significance of this study lies in the identification of factors that encourage academic entrepreneurialism among community college faculty, ultimately supporting institutional efforts to augment funding. I investigated individual, institutional, and environmental factors that encourage academic entrepreneurialism among community college faculty. Accordingly, the research questions identify key factors that encourage academic entrepreneurialism among community college faculty and explain how they facilitate faculty to engage in academic entrepreneurialism. The research questions that I evaluated in this study are: What individual, institutional, and environmental factors influence community college faculty to engage in academic entrepreneurialism? What is the relationship between faculty background, institutional, and environmental characteristics and the frequency and quality of academic entrepreneurialism among community college faculty? I found that all three factors are essential elements of academic entrepreneurialism among community college faculty. Individual, institutional, and environmental factors consist of people who are all pursuing their self-interest. This follows the tenets of rational choice theory as the study finds that self-interest influences faculty academic entrepreneurialism. The study argues that changes to institutional policies are the key determining factor to encourage academic entrepreneurialism among community college faculty. Institutional policies determine how a college functions and understands the interrelationship between individual, institutional, and environmental factors. Encouraging academic entrepreneurialism among community college faculty requires institutional policies that focus on the fundamental issue: recruiting, retaining, and evaluating community college faculty. The study offers suggestions for how to influence institutional policies that in turn encourage faculty academic entrepreneurialism by addressing the following areas: faculty job descriptions, faculty job announcements, evaluating faculty levels of academic entrepreneurialism, and offering entrepreneurial faculty financial incentives.

Scalable Planning-David C. Dinucci 2012-05-01 Concurrency describes any potential time overlap in a set of activities. Its most onerous complexities have been tackled mostly by parallel programmers trying to speed up their applications by harnessing the power of multiple computers (processors, or cores) tied together. Other programmers have mostly remained content with the relative simplicity and ever-increasing speeds of standard sequential (non-parallel) computers, and the rest of us with one-step-at-a-time approaches. But those days are ending: Typical processor speeds have leveled off, and now even laptops and phones are picking up the slack by integrating multiple processors and graphics coprocessors. In the human realm, as communication of all sorts becomes faster and more ubiquitous, we have ever more services (by computers and people) at our disposal, their decentralized nature implying concurrency. How can we humans plan for, and keep track of, all this available concurrency with our "one track" minds? Can these concurrent plans scale up to exploit ever larger collections of processors and/or services? This text uses simple analogies, examples, and thought experiments to explain basic concepts in concurrency to a broad audience, and to devise an intuitive "elementary particle of activity." A new graphical representation called ScalPL (Scalable Planning Language) is then introduced for building even complex concurrent activities of all kinds from those elemental activities, one mind-sized bite at a time. For programmers, structured and object-oriented programming are extended into the concurrent realm, and performance techniques are explored. For the more serious student, axiomatic semantics and proof techniques are covered. As the world becomes flatter, communication speeds increase, organizations become decentralized, and processors become ubiquitous, Scalable Planning will help you master the trend toward increased concurrency which is here to stay.

Mashed Potatoes-Graham Koens 2010-10-19 Little Brother - called L.B. for short - comes from a loving family, has a good friend, and loves to eat mashed potatoes. In fact, he thinks mashed potatoes are so good, he wants to eat nothing else. His parents try to explain to him that too much of anything is a bad thing, but L.B. doesn't want to listen. When L.B. disobeys his parents, he learns the hard way why he should trust them and how you really CAN have too much of a good thing. FROM THE BACK COVER: "Little Brother loves mashed potatoes, but maybe too much. What would happen if he ate the whole bowl? Would he swell up like a balloon as his parents suggested? Join L.B. as he travels into space and learns about self-control in this Little Brother Story."

Lessons of the Heart-Jodie Larson 2016-03-14 The first time we met, James Dumont knocked me off my feet. He's sexy and smart, the classic good guy.... Exactly what I want, and everything I've ever dreamed of. The most perfect guy at Somerset High School. He even makes sixth-period Geography interesting. Everyone says high school is tough. Fighting my attraction to James? That's the hardest part, because this guy, my perfect match, the one who makes my heart overrule my head... He's my teacher. What if the greatest lesson you could learn in school couldn't be found in a book?

Rab Series the R Story-MR Ribhu Ahuja 2014-05-10 The R story is a story about the first of the three musketeer friends, Ronit - his life starting from childhood, upto his job life. After school, he goes for a civil engineering course and he falls in love. His life gets ruined when he gets to know the reality about his girlfriend and when she betrays him - though she had her own reasons. It's about how painful it gets when love tends to almost fail. It's about the tests and tears which Ronit undergo. Life takes the endless and dark route and then what happens, is what this script all about. It has six of my self composed romantic rhymes and has different moods and messages in the chapters - innocence, fun, hilariousness, romance, sex, tests and setbacks, self determination, success and a different ending. The story line starts with humor and during school, as the story proceeds, the same becomes interesting and full of mischief again when Ronit reaches class eleventh. The naughtiness goes on till he is in the college and then he falls in love. Ronit starts dating a girl who is great looking but is a little handicapped. Ronit is totally okay with it but his mother has a problem with that and it leads to some tensions. Ronit tries to hard to marry his girlfriend and supports her to a great extent but suddenly she disappears from his life and start acting inert to him. Then what happens..... Read to know more Extracts from Chapter 13 - College, fort or jail? "Ya ya, I know. Let's move it up fast." Jax replied as they took the last carton which contained Anjali's school stuff - thick books, notes, papers, files and stationary. They finally made it to the third floor through stairs as the lift was not yet installed and one of them slipped on the last stair and the carton fell down and some papers came out of it. They picked up the papers one by one and kept in the carton. At a glimpse, as they saw these papers, there were amoeba drawings and notes, paramecium and various other micro organisms drawn on these papers. As Ronit lifted up the last paper from the ground, he gave it a look and then his eyes widened; he kept on looking and covered his face with that paper.

Agafya-Anton Chekhov 2013-12 Agafya is a short story by Anton Pavlovich Chekhov detailing a late night encounter between an intelligent but lazy village dropout and the peasant wife of a signalman. Anton Pavlovich Chekhov, (29 January 1860 - 15 July 1904) was a Russian physician, dramaturge and author who is considered to be among the greatest writers of short stories in history. His career as a dramatist produced four classics and his best short stories are held in high esteem by writers and critics. Chekhov practised as a medical doctor throughout most of his literary career: "Medicine is my lawful wife", he once said, "and literature is my mistress." Chekhov renounced the theatre after the disastrous reception of The Seagull in 1896, but the play was revived to acclaim in 1898 by Constantin Stanislavski's Moscow Art Theatre, which subsequently also produced Chekhov's Uncle Vanya and premiered his last two plays, Three Sisters and The Cherry Orchard. These four works present a challenge to the acting ensemble as well as to audiences, because in place of conventional action Chekhov offers a "theatre of mood" and a "submerged life in the text." Chekhov had at first written stories only for financial gain, but as his artistic ambition grew, he made formal innovations which have influenced the evolution of the modern short story. His originality consists in an early use of the stream-of-consciousness technique, later adopted by James Joyce and other modernists, combined with a disavowal of the moral finality of traditional story structure. He made no apologies for the difficulties this posed to readers, insisting that the role of an artist was to ask questions, not to answer them. Always modest, Chekhov could hardly have imagined the extent of his posthumous reputation. The ovations for the play, The Cherry Orchard, in the year of his death showed him how high he had risen in the affection of the Russian public-by then he was second in literary celebrity only to Tolstoy, who outlived him by six years-but after his death, Chekhov's fame soon spread further afield. Constance Garnett's translations won him an English-language readership and the admiration of writers such as James Joyce, Virginia Woolf, and Katherine Mansfield. The issues surrounding the close similarities between Mansfield's 1910 story "The Child Who Was Tired" and Chekhov's "Sleepy" are summarised in William H. New's Reading Mansfield and Metaphors of Reform The Russian critic D.S. Mirsky, who lived in England, explained Chekhov's popularity in that country by his "unusually complete rejection of what we may call the heroic values." In Russia itself, Chekhov's drama fell out of fashion after the revolution but was later adapted to the Soviet agenda, with the character Lopakhin, for example, reinvented as a hero of the new order, taking an axe to the cherry orchard. One of the first non-Russians to praise Chekhov's plays was George Bernard Shaw, who subtitled his Heartbreak House "A Fantasia in the Russian Manner on English Themes" and noted similarities between the predicament of the British landed class and that of their Russian counterparts as depicted by Chekhov: "the same nice people, the same utter futility."

Storiology-Steven Dunham 2013-11-12 Once I realized that each moment in real life is more dramatic than any novel or screenplay ever written, I finally realized that reality was worth engaging. So often we wonder if anyone notices the lives we lead, but I believe God travels great distances to gather angels who long to see our stories unfold. He is like a director or writer who wants to show off His cast and characters. God, scripture, and truth stand firm, yet our stories and theology influence one another. What do you believe about God, Christ, and our identity as Christians? What are your thoughts on communion, worship, baptism, and heaven? What does God say about our struggle with Him and the emotions we carry inside us? What is the role of the church and the need we have for outside support? And finally, what are the true definitions of repentance and sanctification within the context of a grace-based theology? In your hands, you hold the intersection of my story and my theology. You hold my "Storiology". May it point you to God, igniting a desire to find Him in the middle of your own dramatic, valuable story. Even angels long to look into these things. - 1 Peter 1:12 Endorsements: * Bob Blincoe, Ph.D. U.S. Director of Frontiers* Annette Schuster, MA. Director of Kids Need to Know * Bob Krepps.
